Mental Health in the Workplace Legislation

S.7577 (Brouk)/A.8675 (Gunther)

This Legislation Would Result In:

- Mental health postings in the workplace: Every employee is entitled to know about all of their rights in the workplace including their mental health rights. This legislation will ensure that these rights are clearly posted in the workplace just as other rights, such as minimum wages, workers compensation and physical disability rights.
- Voluntary guidelines in the workplace: Mental health awareness and literacy in the workplace leads to healthy work environments for all New Yorkers. Through this legislation, employers will have access to accurate and reliable mental health information and resources that they can make available to their employees and use to inform workplace policies.
